BRIEF

Andani continues to deliver healthy performance across her funds. While she has built a good track record in the mid-cap space with SBI Magnum Midcap, what stands out is the impressive outperformance of the large-cap SBI Bluechip Fund. It has among the best risk-return profiles and a stellar alpha for its category. In both funds, Andani shows a remarkable ability to handle different market cycles, being particularly effective in cushioning the downside during downturns much better than peers. She employs a predominantly growth-oriented strategy, preferring asset-light businesses with managements geared towards capital preservation. She is cognizant of the heightened volatility and sharp market reactions of recent times but insists that nothing should waver from long-term growth visibility. Doing due diligence is more important than ever today, she argues, given the cost of making a mistake is higher. Rather than look for newer ideas at a time when rich valuations warrant exits from certain stocks, she insists on focusing more within the existing portfolio and build positions wherever possible.
